Grand Master Chan K. Yu Founder of Yu's Academy

The motto of Yu's Academy is "Sound Mind in a Sound Body."

The Purpose of the Academy is to build a strong foundation based on courtesy, integrity, discipline, and respect.

Grand Master Yu left his homeland of Korea with a great dream to teach martial arts in America. He started teaching at Missouri Western State University in 1974 and went on to establish Yu's Academy.

Grand Master Yu was the manager and coach of the USA Tae Kwon Do team for the 1978 Pan American Games in Mexico City, Mexico. He also serves as an international referee.

He established the World Hap Ki Do Association and Mid-America Tae Kwon Do Association. He is also the chairman of the board of examiners and serves as a technical advisor of Hap Ki Do, Judo, and Tae Kwon Do in the United States.

Grand Master Yu founded his own Modern US Hap Ki Do system and techniques based on ancient Korean mudo. He has over 45 years experience in the martial arts.

In the United States, Grand Master Yu received a bachelor's degree in education at Missouri Western State University in 1977. Grand Master Yu places much emphasis on education. His son Dale, a 5th dan instructor, graduated from Stanford University, and attends medical school. His daughter Jean, will graduate from Harvard University and is also a 4th degree black belt instructor. His wife graduated from Ewha Women's University in Seoul, Korea. She is a social worker for the state of Missouri.

Letter from Grand Master Chan K. Yu

I extend my warm welcome and sincere congratulations to the invited guests, master instructors, black belts, and members of Yu's Academy.

Yu's Academy members are a group of dedicated Martial Arts practitioners of all ages and belt ranks from around the world.

If one man of great faith can move a mountain, as a Korean proverb says, I am sure that millions of devoted martial artists in the country can make a better America and World by helping our youth with self-discipline. We must help our youth develop their true confidence in mind and body.

It is our duty to devote ourselves to bettering the moral and academic health of society. There is an old Korean saying that says, "It takes a year to harvest a crop, ten years to see the full beauty of a tree, and 50 years to make a man."

Yu's Academy has developed students who seek an attitude that goes beyond the confines of athletic achievement and subscribes to a philosophy of integrity, discipline, and respect which can be integrated into the very fabric of their lives.

Yours Truly,

Chan K Yu

Grand Master Chan K Yu
Founder, Yu's Academy

Letter of Student Dedication:

BEST WISHES
ON YOUR
TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Twenty-five years ago you began an amazing journey. You left the country that had been your home with hopes and expectations that none of us could hope to understand. Regardless of what you may have hoped for please know how thankful each of us is that you were willing to take that tremendous step of faith. You faced the challenges of a new language, new customs, a new life style, not to mention the work involved with starting an academy while providing for your family here and in Korea. Looking back I am sure that it sometimes even amazes you how much you have survived. However, you have donemuch more than survive, you have flourished. You have taught hundreds of students, changed a countless number of lives and still continue to reach out to new people all of the time.

Grand Master Yu, your story is one that many could not understand because they do not understand the dedication, the love, the determination that it takes to do all of the things that you have done for all of us who have known you over so many years. So few people can see beyond today. They are not able to envision the future or lay the foundation for tomorrow. Some who do try to build fail to remember that foundation must constantly be repaired, restrengthened, reinforced so that continued growth does not crush the very foundation. You have always remembered that and helped all of us to remember where we started and to guard against working only on the new without maintaining the old. You have taught us to respect one another, to share with one another, and to never give up no matter how hard life may seem. For with a "Sound Mind in a Sound Body" and the support of everyone in Yu's Academy we can all continue to grow and spread the things that you have taught us throughout this country that was once foreign to you, but now have become your home. May you know that regardless of where any of us might go that there is always a home for you in our hearts and minds and we will cherish not only the years that we have spent together but the years we will yet share in the future.

God Bless You Always,

David L. Duvall, Master Instructor

Academy Motto: "Sound Mind in a Sound Body"

Academy Self-defense Curriculum:

Development of self-defense techniques, knowledges, and appreciations of martial arts as recreational and physical fitness.

Basic Terminology of Martial Arts:

- ★ Judo - the way or art of Gentleness
- ★ Hap ki do - the way or art of Coordinated Power
- ★ Tae kwon do - the way or art of Hand and Foot Fighting
- ★ Kum do - the way or art of Sword

Areas of Emphasis:

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| a. Offensive and defensive              | h. Holding, chocking, armlock techniques |
| b. Develop interpower                   | i. Falling techniques                    |
| c. Stance and movement                  | j. Twisting, trusting                    |
| d. Hand techniques (punching, blocking) | k. Breaking techniques                   |
| e. Foot techniques (kicking)            | l. Combination, counter techniques       |
| f. Form or pattern                      | m. Competition rules                     |
| g. Throwing techniques                  |  |

Class Attendance

Because evaluation is based on the ability to perform and general attitude toward the discipline required in the course, class attendance is very important.

Evaluation Procedures

The progress of the participants is constantly evaluated through promotion tests, and students are then upgraded in rank and given more advance instruction.

Final grades will be reduced one point for each unexcused absence. Attitude grade will carry double weight in computing final grade for the course.

The Black Belt Journey

I came to martial arts seeking the fulfillment of two objectives. The primary objective was to provide my oldest son an activity that would instill confidence and self esteem under the guidance of a strong moral leader. The other objective was to find something for myself that could be a stress reducer and provide physical conditioning. A vague awareness of eastern martial art philosophy coupled with an endorsement of martial arts by a renowned psychologist brought together the idea to pursue these objectives. About this time we made an acquaintance of a family moving to St. Joseph from Tulsa. A comment was made that they were excited about moving here because their son could continue his martial arts under a world renowned Kwan Jang Nim whose academy was in St. Joseph, Missouri.

My first encounter with Yu Kwan Jang Nim was overwhelming. Overwhelming because my son was teary eyed and Yu Kwan Jang Nim was not what I had expected. I don't know what I was expecting, but what I found was a caring man, a man with morals, wisdom, and strong principles. I knew at that moment I would enter martial arts not only for physical training but more importantly to learn how to live a fulfilled life by becoming enlightened. I had no doubt the same would happen for my son thereby fulfilling my initial two objectives.

In writing this testimonial I've had to look back over my life. I've come to realize that although the many steps I took to arrive at the present now seem inevitable, even obvious, the truth is, at the same time, each step could have gone another way. I recognized early in my life that education was my own personal north like a point on a compass. My parents always talked about the importance of learning and knowledge and showed by example how to pursue learning and knowledge. Our home life involved more reading than TV watching, we did things as a family, and I sincerely felt my parents liked us. We were taught responsibility and commitment within our home. I was encouraged to try new things and face problems as they arose. During my early teen years, Boy Scouts helped me understand commitment and responsibility out side our home. I earned my Eagle Scout by age 14. I was taught respect for parents, teachers and mentors. I accepted respect for others as a way of life and through respect and education I was able to stay true to my north. All this came together and allowed me to pursue my dreams. My dreams of having a wonderful wife and family and becoming a doctor.

As I prepare for certified Ill-Dan black belt, I see reflections, as if looking in a still clear pond, of my work in martial arts. Yu Kwan Jang Nim has given me time to reflect on everything in my life. Yu Kwan Jang Nim is a central figure in my life and became one 2 ½ years ago. His dedication to teaching martial arts and the martial arts way of life brought forth a dedication to him as my Kwan Jang Nim. I have so much to learn from Yu Kwan Jang Nim about life. I do see him as a valuable mirror to enlighten my soul. Kam Sa Hamnida Kwan Jang Nim for this moment.

Reflections of my life show different paths all leading to a common point. That common point is doing my best and never quitting. The tenants of martial arts are ideal in describing what I always held as parts of doing my best. From becoming a Eagle Scout in the Boy Scouts, to becoming a surgeon the work getting there has always been the same. The subjects were different, but the effort was the same. Each seemed very hard as the moment passed and I did it! When Jackie and I chose to have children we agreed to do our best. When my oldest son reached school age I wanted to do something with him that would give us our time together. That seemed like yesterday (and in life it was) and now we are testing for certified Ill-Dan black belt together.

The instruction and guidance I've received while learning Hap Ki Do to this point have been incredible. Yu Kwan Jang Nim and every instructor are excellent teachers. In the process of reviewing my notes in order to present them to Yu Kwan Jang Nim, I realized how much material and knowledge I have learned. I understand I am now continuing my life in martial arts. I would like to pay tribute to my instructors and assistant instructors by using them as examples of the embodiment of the tenants of martial arts. Each instructor has given me clear and real life examples of the tenants of martial arts. Hopkins Sa Bum Nim embodies courtesy. From her style of teaching children to providing strong instruction, her graciousness and respectful ways have taught me the living meaning of courtesy. Duvall Sa Bum Nim demonstrates integrity through his soundness and sincerity and strict adherence to principles. Holding course to action, belief, and purpose without giving way, Bix Sa Bum Nim's steadfastness has taught me perseverance and self-control. Stewart Sa Bum Nim's and Erickson Sa Bum Nim's inability to be overcome or subdued in both mind and techniques make excellent examples of indomitable spirit. The descriptions are not exclusive, as all the instructors convey all the tenants of martial arts. These reflections I see of their living examples of the tenants of martial arts.

I bow to Yu Kwan Jang Nim, my Sa Bum Nims and Boo Sa Bum Nims, senior belts, fellow martial artists and to my beautiful wife and loving children. Kam Sa Hamnida.

Your humble student,
Robert Remis, 1st Dan

Editor's Column

First, I would like to thank Stephen Cook 4th Dan for his hard work and assistance in making this yearbook. Much of this yearbook is a reflection of his dedication to Yu's Academy.

I have always wanted to create a yearbook for the students so they could get a feel for the history of the school. I hope this is the first step in creating a more detailed and comprehensive book about martial arts.

This yearbook is a culmination of 35 years of teaching thousands of dedicated martial artists. As I look back, I realize that I have learned so much more from my students than I possibly could have taught. I thank all of them for the impact they have made on my life. Without the dedication and effort of the students, the Academy could not have grown as strong as it is today. They are the pillars of Yu's Academy.

The Black Belt Journey

In the summer of 1979 I walked into Yu's Academy, looked around, then turned and walked out. I was single at the time without a care in the world. Little did I know that 17 years later I would return, only this time I brought my son along.

When we began taking classes I was told that we have joined a "family." I soon realized this, it is in every sense a family. You learn to respect your elders or senior belts. I have learned to ask the seniors if I can leave the mat, just like when I was younger asking my mother or father to leave the dinner table. I have learned rules that apply to the Academy, just like rules that apply around the house.

Remember how you looked up to your Grandpa or Great Grandpa? He always had wisdom and knowledge. Master Yu is just like that. We look up to him for wisdom and knowledge, but he doesn't stop there. I'll never forget what he said to me one day. He said "You have problem, I fix it." He has been a counselor, a teacher, and a true friend to me. Like Jesus we are disciplines of our Master. I ask him how shall I serve you best? He says "go out and teach others like I have taught you." Leading by example is what Master Yu does. Through discipline we learn to treat others and teach others with respect. These valuable teachings are worth far more than our tuition.

Yu's Academy has been a progressive Martial Arts School since the early 70's. The Adopt-A-Family program at Christmas is inspirational. The caring and sharing displayed at the Academy fills the air with love and acceptance. The teachings and memories that I have will last forever. This is truly an experience of a lifetime. I look forward to the future years at Yu's Academy.

David Kidwell, 1st Dan

“Yu’s Academy Poem”

May 1991

Our clear mind covers the river and mountain
Marital arts a way of life that grows inside of you
Sound mind in a sound body
4 Train your mind and body live the cause of truth
Brotherhood by martial arts is our pride
Respect for senior rank is our discipline
8 Devotion to our parents and to Yu’s Academy
Choong Sung, Bok Jong, Dan Kyeol!

Our clear thought covers the earth and heaven
Courtesy integrity we train to persevere
Sound mind in a sound body
12 Life and death by faith is the martial arts way
Brotherhood by martial arts is our pride
Respect for senior rank is our discipline
16 Loyalty to nation and to Yu’s Academy
Choong Sung, Bok Jong, Dan Kyeol!
